NOTHING TO SOB STORY

CHEMIST MAKES STARTLING DISCOVERIES OF INTRIGUES IN CALIFORNIA WINE INDUSTRY

The following article by William E. Johnson in the California Christian Advocate will be read with interest by those who wish to see California go dry this fall, but whose sympathies have been with the growers of wine grapes who would be put out of business by having this proposed measure carry. This article shows that there is nothing to this argument.

There is a strange story to tell of some inner intrigues in the California wine industry covering the past year that is of vital interest to the whole state at this time.

The Italian Swiss Wine Company has an immense wine establishment and an acreage of about 4000 acres in grapes between San Bernardino and Los Angeles. They originally purchased the land at from eight to ten dollars per acre years ago and planted it to grapes. The rise in the value of land alone has made the corporation rich, for this same land, without the grapes or any other improvements, is worth about $100 per acre, or $400,000 for other purposes.

Last fall this concern had planned to erect a gigantic non-alcoholic wine establishment on their property, and a European chemist had started from Italy to install the plant in case he was able to duplicate with California grapes the results he had achieved with Austrian grapes. But on account of the dry California campaign, which sprung up in the spring, the project was postponed until another year. Thereby hangs the story.

For twelve years Professor Eudo Monti, a consulting chemist, with temperance proclivities, of Turin, Italy, had been experimenting with Italian and Austrian grapes, seeking a process of manufacturing a non-alcoholic wine that would retain the bouquet and all the flavors of the grape, which are more or less lost in all known processes of grape juice manufacturing.

Two years ago he succeeded in devising a system that produced these results in a remarkable manner. The process was an elaborate one, that of a system of manipulating the must. The surplus water was frozen out of the grapes instead of being boiled out.

Last year La Co-operative di Esportazione dei Prodotti Viticoli (the Co-operative Society for the Exportation of Grape Products) of Trent, Austria, became interested and constructed, under the supervision of Prof. Monti, an elaborate factory at Trent for the manufacture of non-alcoholic wine by the new process and manufactured about 50,000 gallons as a starter. The new product became immediately popular.

The machinery required was more elaborate and expensive than that required for the manufacture of the fermented wines, yet the labor and time was so much less that the non-alcoholic wine could be produced at about the same or less cost than the alcoholic variety.

The society is composed of about 800 farmers and among them quite a strong temperance sentiment had developed. The move, however, was as much a business as a sentimental venture. They hope this year to cease the manufacture of brandy altogether.

Last September a delegation from the International Anti-Alcohol Congress, which was assembled at Milan, Italy, visited the establishment, journeying to Austria for that purpose as the guests of the society. I had the pleasure of being one of the guests. Among others were such men as Baron Prazak of Vienna, Baron Ch Ruys de Boorenbrouck of Holland, Dr. Francisco Ferrari of Milan, Italy, Professor Dr. Robert Herced of Lausanne, Switzerland, Prof. Dr. Ezio Calcaterra of Genoa and several French and German scientists of international repute. We were received in an official banquet given by the municipality of Arco and another given by the municipality of Trent.

I have never seen a greater enthusiasm on the part of men of this calibre than was displayed by these scientists over the discovery of Prof. Monti, who was present and explained to the visitors the scientific technicalities of his process. At the banquet, served by the municipality of Trent, Monti's wine only was served—half a dozen varieties of it—and was highly praised.

Monti's new process of making wine without the stinger in it attracted the attention of Dr. Allino, the European representative of the Italian Swiss Company of California, and he went to Trent to investigate. He, too, became so enthusiastic about

PUBLIC WELFARE QUESTIONS ARE DISCUSSED

VARIOUS COMMITTEES AT ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GIVE ENCOURAGING REPORTS INDICATING THAT MEMBERS ARE ACCOMPLISHING THINGS

The regular monthly meeting of the Glendale chamber of commerce was held in one of the rooms of the grammar school on Third street on Friday evening. The meeting was presided over by the chairman, J. N. McGillis. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read by the secretary, H. A. Wilson. Ed M. Lee, treasurer of the chamber, gave a report showing that a balance of between two and three dollars remained in the treasury.

The report of standing committees being called for, E. U. Emery, chairman of the water committee, reported that the city intends to take over the plants purchased from the water companies. J. C. Sherer reported that the city intends to take over the Glendale Consolidated and the Miradero companies' interests on October 1. It was the opinion of the members present that the water committee had rendered excellent service.

A report was called for from the transportation committee. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, chairman of the committee, not being present, J. C. Sherer reported as to the progress the committee is making. He said regular weekly meetings are being held and although there have been no public manifestations of progress, the committee is making good headway on the Pacific Electric loop proposition, and the money subscribed is being paid in now. In a few instances condemnation proceedings have been commenced.

The chair asked Mr. Sherer if the committee had any report to make on the reduction of fare from Los Angeles. He reported that on account of the absence of the chairman of the committee, the railroad fare question had not been taken up for consideration.

The publicity committee, of which A. T. Cowan is chairman, reported that more than half of the 5000 art folders ordered by the committee had been sold. J. W. Pearson, a member of the committee, asked the members to co-operate with him so far as possible in disposing of the folders. These folders may be purchased at the following places:

Office of H. A. Wilson, 912 West Broadway.

Glendale Evening News office, 920 West Broadway.

Office of J. F. Lilly, 1106 West Broadway.

Office of J. W. Pearson, 1214 West Broadway.

The social committee had no members present, hence no report. The secretary suggested that a banquet be held at the next meeting. After some discussion, the question was referred to the social committee.

M. P. Harrison, chairman of the park committee, said some months ago the committee was requested to keep quiet on the park question until the school bond and the water bond elections were out of the way.

About the time the school and water questions were settled members of the committee began taking their summer vacations and it has been difficult to get the committee together. However, two meetings have been held recently, but it has been impossible for the committee to arrive at any definite conclusion that will allow them to make a report. Mr. Harrison is of the opinion that the committee will be able to make an encouraging report at the next meeting of the chamber.

The question of rest-rooms, drinking fountains and making general provisions for the comfort of strangers who visit Glendale, came up for consideration. After considerable discussion, on motion, the chair appointed the following committee to inquire into the needs of the city along the lines mentioned above: A. T. Cowan, W. J. Clendenin, E. U. Emery, J. F. Lilly and H. W. Hall.

H. Nelson, chairman of a special committee that had been appointed two months ago to inquire into the labor conditions, reported that investigations had been made, and he did not consider it within the sphere of the work of the chamber of commerce. A report was read from Chas. W. Kent & Son showing that of the amount paid for carpenter work on the new school buildings, only six per cent was paid workmen outside of Glendale.

On motion the report of the committee was received, placed on file and the committee ordered discharged.

The dry amendment question came up for consideration. J. N. McGillis in behalf of the Glendale Dry organization, asked that the chamber endorse the dry amendment. After twenty minutes' discussion, the question was put to a vote and carried with only three dissenting votes.

The meeting, although not largely attended, was full of interest from beginning to close.

The board of directors should secure a more suitable place in which to hold the meetings. The seats of the room where these meetings are held are too small to accommodate full-grown people and the room is poorly ventilated.

NORTH GLENDALE

Because of unavoidable reasons, Rev. Herbert E. Pack, the evangelist who was to have preached Sunday at the morning service at the Casa Verdugo M. E. church, will not be able to be present and Rev. C. R. Norton of W. Third street, Glendale, former pastor of the church, will occupy the pulpit. The services for the day tomorrow will be as follows: Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Morning service at 11 a. m. Junior League at 3 p. m. Miss Mary Pierce, superintendent. Evening service will be in charge of the Senior Epworth League and Mrs. R. D. Jones will read Henry Van Dyke's "The Other Wise Man." All who heard Mrs. Jones when she read to us Henry Van Dyke's "The Lost Word," will appreciate the treat that is in store for all who attend this service. Special music will also be rendered. Mrs. C. H. Cunningham, lyric soprano, will sing at both morning and evening services. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Come and bring a friend.

WHY NOT PRAY NOW?

The California development board wishes especially to emphasize, here in a state where half of the population is foreign-born or of foreign parentage, and therefore closely related to millions on the firing lines, the significance of the call to prayer on October 4th, sent out by the president of the United States.

But why need California wait until October 4th to pray that the counsel of warring men may be overruled? If an average of only 20,000 men a day are being killed or wounded, grief will have come to nearly half a million more homes before we meet to pray.

Any effort, whether of prayer or mediation, which has in it the hope of checking the pitiless butchery and the attendant anguish on both sides of the sea, should not be held over for another month.

It is therefore respectfully suggested to the press and the clergy and to all who believe in the efficacy of prayer that this great state might immediately engage in this devout and humane petition, without in anywise lessening the importance of the national day of prayer next month.

CALIFORNIA DEVELOPMENT BOARD.

THE REAL PUBLIC SPIRIT

WILL GIVE $100 TOWARD PARK OR PUBLIC SQUARE FOR GLENDALE

B. F. Patterson, one of the very early settlers in Glendale and a man who has been intensely interested in everything that relates to the city's progress, is just now giving his attention to the subject of a central park for Glendale. He was one of the men who originally laid out the city and ever since that time he has been justly jealous of Glendale's good reputation.

In the past year Mr. Patterson says he has visited twelve small towns and cities in this vicinity, perhaps the greater part of them smaller than Glendale, and every one of these cities had something that Glendale has not, a park or public square near the central part of the town.

Mr. Patterson says Glendale must have a park if she is to keep up with other cities.

The chamber of commerce park committee is working on this question of a park and no doubt their investigations will be brought to a satisfactory culmination very soon.

Mr. Patterson says if the square just west of the sanitarium is secured for a site for a park, he will give $100 toward the project. This is an offer that should not be overlooked.

FREE TO SUBSCRIBERS

The anniversary number of the Glendale Evening News, which will be ready for distribution in two or there weeks, will be given free to every paid-in-advance subscriber of the Glendale Evening News or the Tri-City Progress, providing such subscription is for at least a period of three months for the Evening News and one year for the Tri-City Progress. Otherwise the anniversary number will be sold for 15 cents per copy, cash. No orders will be booked unless accompanied by the cash, for the reason that we do not want a multitude of small accounts that will require a man to spend several weeks' time in which to make the collections.

Experience has taught us that while some people are exceedingly prompt, others are not, and to be fair to all, we will insist upon receiving cash with the order.

Many orders have already been taken for the special number and we will be pleased to book your order on the conditions outlined above.

TROPICO

Mrs. Samuel A. Ayres of Central avenue and her sister-in-law, Mrs. N. C. Burch, of Cerritos avenue, who have been visiting relatives and friends in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Colorado for the past three months, will return home to Tropico the latter part of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Meeker of Colorado boulevard, accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Blackburn, motored to San Diego Thursday morning, where they will remain until Sunday evening.

Mrs. A. L. Smith has returned from a delightful visit in San Francisco. The trip was made by boat, which rendered Mrs. Smith's vacation all the more delightful.

Mrs. Mary Garrett of Vine street returned this afternoon from a business trip to Santa Clara, which also included a pleasure trip.

DIFFER ON QUESTIONS

DISCUSSION ALWAYS AN INCENTIVE TO INTELLIGENT INFORMATION

It is quite common for people to look at a question from different viewpoints, but that does not mean that either person is not an intelligent reasoner. Intelligent discussion always aids in bringing out obscure points connected with the question under consideration.

It is fortunate that there is opposition to many questions on account of the information gained from the opposition.

In the recent water bond discussion the opposition's questions caused those favoring the bonds to inquire into many phases of the proposition that otherwise would have been neglected. This is an age that due consideration is given to logical discussion. So it is with hundreds of questions. Discussion leads to a clear understanding of the questions.

There is an idea prevalent among members of the chamber of commerce that questions upon which there is a difference of opinion should not be considered at meetings of the chamber. Such an idea should not meet with encouragement. Members of this organization should be sufficiently broad-minded to discuss any question that comes before the public without there being any unpleasant after effects.

SOCIAL HOUR AND CLUB WORK

The new executive board of the Tuesday Afternoon Club were guests one day this week in the home of the club president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, 101 Orange street, who delightfully entertained them at luncheon and later received all the chairmen of the various sections and committees.

The affair was decidedly informal and for the occasion golden glow, yellow pansies and fern furnished bright and attractive decorations throughout the home and on the table.

During courses the year book was drawn in for completion and the following names added to the already long list: Mrs. I. H. Durfee, Mrs. Colin Cable, Mrs. J. H. Daugherty, Mrs. Harold Morris, Mrs. W. H. Benson, Mrs. C. F. Harlan, Mrs. Ed. M. Lynch, Mrs. C. E. Anderson, Mrs. O. E. Clem[illegible] Mrs. Ethel W. Lilly, Mrs. Harry [illegible] Lynch, Mrs. F. W. Burgess, Mrs. Fr[illegible] Thompson and Miss Clara Read[illegible]

From 3 until [illegible] o'clock there was an advisory cou[illegible] of all the chairmen and executive board, in which plans were mad[illegible] for an elaborate fiesta to be give[illegible] at La Ramada on Saturday, Octob[illegible] 3rd, both afternoon and evenin[illegible] This promises to be one of the la[illegible]st affairs the club has ever given.

A spanish din[illegible]er, tickets for which will be in cha[illegible]e of Mrs. Daniel Campbell, will b[illegible] served in the evening. A splendi[illegible] program will be given in the af[illegible]noon and evening and a number [illegible] clever stunts will be staged by M[illegible]s Bertha Jackson. Various booths [illegible] will also be arranged for, details to b[illegible] given later.

Everyone sho[illegible]ld save up for this as it promises [illegible] to be something unusual in the [illegible]istory of Glendale. The Tuesday Af[illegible]ernoon Club is noted for its splendid and successful undertakings and as has been already proven, many novel and entertaining features wil[illegible] be introduced.

CHOIR PARTY WELL ATTENDED

Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Provolt, who graciously opened the doors of their attractive home, 608 North Central avenue, Tropico, for the occasion, the choir party, which was planned for Friday evening by Mr. Norman Badger, acting choir director for St. Mark's church, and Mr. Carl J. Seubert, a member of the same choir, was marked with success and enjoyment.

The large rooms given over to the affair were adorned with assorted flowers and accommodated players at eighteen tables. Five Hundred was the game. Scores ran high and handsome prizes were won by Miss Annie L. McIntyre and Mr. E. M. Polley, first, and Dr. M. Louise Davis and Mr. W. Kretchfield, second.

At a late hour delicious coffee, sandwiches and home-made cake were generously served to the merry throng, who departing were heard to say, "Oh, I have just had the most delightful time," and such can easily be believed, as good cheer, smiles and laughter were by no means noticeable by their absence.

Assisting the hosts during the evening were the Misses Bessie, Mattie Belle and Clara Provolt, Miss Elizabeth Lange, Miss Cecelia Wilson, Miss Lillian Mills, Miss Gertrude Champlain and Miss Katherine Wells.

WORLD'S GREATEST FINANCIER

The world's greatest financier is the California farmer's housewife. Her daily investments exceed in shrewdness the clever transactions of Wall street and no business concern or corporation, however ably officered, has ever been able to approach her in economy. She is the nation's ablest trader and her transactions more nearly reflect the progress and prosperity of the country than the reports of our clearing houses.

All legislation, financial or otherwise, ought to be so plain that the housewife can understand it. Our legislators, state and national, shoot so far over the head of the average citizen that those who are unable to employ an attorney and accept his statements in blind faith, must forever remain in ignorance of our laws. Of course, we have so many laws that no human can expect to read them and survive the ordeal, but any person who feels an irresistible impulse to legislate, should try his proposed law on his neighbor and get it down where the common people can understand it before attempting to put it on the statute books.

by its banks. If they are located in modern buildings, well equipped to give first-class service to their depositors and well organized to insure safety, people speak of such a city as a rich and prosperous one.

The First National Bank of Glendale has had a most successful growth and offers its depositors every advantage and convenience of a metropolitan bank, but could be a still greater factor in the upbuilding of Glendale, if every Glendale citizen transacted his or her banking business in Glendale, for the reason that the funds of this bank are loaned to Home People on Home Securities and are at all times engaged in the upbuilding of local interests.

and has lectured on the Bible in most of the large eastern cities. He has also debated with some of the leading exponents of strange doctrine, among whom was the most successful leader of millennial dawn next to Pastor Russell himself. The result of this debate was an invitation from the ministers' conference in many places to give lectures on this modern heresy. Pastor Troy is in Glendale seeking the health of his two boys, after having lost a little daughter from bronchitis in New York City, where he was located as pastor for nearly eight years. Thousands have heard these Bible lectures. It will be a rare opportunity for Glendale students of the word of God on Sunday evening. Services commence at 7:30.

Morning theme, "Saved!" Strong gospel appeal. Sunday school at 9:30 under the leadership of Mr. Kent. Big Bible class led by Mr. Ross. B. Y. P. U. at 6:30 p. m. Leader, Harold Latter. Subject, "Christian Culture."

Miss Maud Salisbury at the piano. Violin, Cecil Crandall.

ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The hay-ride by the young people of the church on Tuesday evening to Sycamore canyon for the benefit of the Sunday school was a very enjoyable affair. The attendance of the Sunday school has been increasing all summer, when one would naturally expect it to be below normal, and reached its highest mark last Sunday, with eighty-six scholars and teachers present.

The Woman's Guild meets this coming week on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 16th, in the Guild hall, and will begin their fall work and get ready for the coming bazaar to be held the 9th and 10th of December. The last social of the guild was held last week at the home of Mrs. D. W. Hunt, at which there was a large attendance and a good time enjoyed.

Mrs. Jennie D. Davis entertained very hospitably the Woman's Auxiliary last Friday at her home, at which Mrs. Freeman Kelley read an excellent paper on "The Growth of the Work in the United States."

Friday evening the choir gave a card party at the home of the Misses Provolt in Tropico. The house was crowded with guests and an enjoyable time had. The choir has stood nobly by all summer and given us fine music every Sunday.

The congregation at church services have been unusually large this summer and are increasing now that our people are getting home from their vacations.

Tomorrow there will be holy communion at 7:30 a. m. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. and morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. The sermon by Dr. Mills will be "Back to Christ."

The regular meeting of the Brotherhood will be held next Tuesday evening at 7:30. A full attendance is desired.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR DINE

Just like the bee, "all a-time a-buzzin'," is the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard.

Friday night it was the scene of the dinner and card party enjoyed monthly by members of the local Knights Templar and their wives, and make no mistake, gentle reader, this jolly affair certainly was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lore, Mr. George Duffet and daughter, Miss George Duffet, were the hosts and hostesses for the evening, and under their personal guidance a sumptuous repast was served. The hall and tables glowed with the brightness of yellow centered daisies, golden glow and gorgeous red dahlias that bloomed forth in all their beauty from the midst of rich green fern.

When the meal was o'er, the large tables were all cleared away and small ones substituted for Five Hundred. Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Daniels scored highest and Mrs. D. G. Crofton and Mr. Thomas Ogg came in close second. All were rewarded with prizes and like the other thirty-five or forty guests, went home rejoicing, the hour being about midnight.

SUNDAY, A DAY OF REST

Replying to a leaflet scattered broadcast in our community entitled "Liberty and Equal Rights—Shall They Be Preserved?" Yes, but how? By observing our good and wholesome laws made by the people and for the people.

Everything today in every republic is "back to the people." We are getting away from hierarchical or kingly or emporial rule, and today the "sound of the going in the tops of mulberry trees" (II Sam. 23), is back to the people. Our government is a Christian government. We must preserve it in its integrity.

What is a free government? Answer: It is a government in which every man not only respects his neighbors' opinions, but is willing to grant to him the (Golden Rule) same rights which he so highly values for himself. How is this secured to the citizen in a democracy or democratic form of government? Only one way possible—by submitting to a majority vote.

If we believe in liberty, we believe in being governed peacefully by the majority, so far as our legal acts are concerned. Just here it seems you are flinching and finding fault with a law designed to grant the greatest good to the largest number, because it does not favor your religious convictions. But my friend, you are losing sight of the fact that our government, though a Christian government, does not pretend to in any way prescribe to its citizens any belief or creed. No, No!

You believe in sacred writ, in your way. This is most happily your right in the United States of America. I have the self-same right granted me by the constitution of our country and claim the same privilege and protection. You believe in your interpretation of scripture as to a day of rest. The national Sunday you do not recognize. We grant you this privilege, but we, the majority, do not happen to see it (as to the particular time) as you do. But we all —Christian people—do believe in the day of rest, and in holding it inviolate. That you do not see it as do the large proportion of mankind may not be your fault, nor is it our fault that we agree with the majority in considering the first day of the week the one we should observe.

You should remember our constitution does not pretend to govern our individual opinions, but does agree with every generous man in the belief that a day of rest is a natural and God-given right to humanity.

The large majority of humanity, the world over, are in favor of Sunday. Therefore, we observe the first day of the week. I am not pretending to look into the causes that have given us this day, nor into the justice of this claim. Such is not the province of this paper, but to show that our government has reference to granting the greatest good to the largest number, which is the duty of any government. On this generally accepted principle the world over by all Christian countries we have recognized the duty of protecting one day of rest free from care for the good of humanity, legally. This becomes necessary that our laboring public may have one day legally free from toil in which the system can recuperate and refresh itself. Can anyone imagine our country destroying, wiping out a day of rest? Just for one moment consider the damage it would be to civilized countries from a sanitary standpoint.

Much would be lost. The weekly bath, the bright new clean suit that most people enjoy so much, would be relegated to the past as a weekly custom, and the social family meeting would be forgotten. In fact, we should be relegated to the days of barbarism, and all just because we do not all see alike. Surely no sane person will for one moment consider such a proposition.

If there is a minority who are dissatisfied with this universal day, the only possible way to secure a change is to convince the rest of us to your way of thinking and change the day, but for humanity's sake, for the good of sustaining a free republic, do not lose the good we have gained by protecting the weak and unfortunate in securing one day for rest for them.

D. W. HUNT.

the new product that he brought Prof. Monti in touch with the California corporation. The result of the negotiations was that Prof. Monti was engaged to come to California and experiment with the California grapes along the same line. Monti was promised that if he could get the same results from the California grapes that he obtained from the Austrian grapes, the California people would immediately erect a plant for the manufacture of the non-alcoholic wine five times the size of the Trent establishment.

While in Austria, the professor explained to me his plan for the enterprise and it was agreed that we would meet on his way to California, to which place he was scheduled to start some time last December.

In January I received a letter from Prof Monti, written in Berlin, Germany. He stated that he was then on his way to California, but had stopped at Berlin for a couple of weeks on professional business, and would shortly meet me in America. But he didn't.

The reason that he didn't was that the Italian Swiss Company suddenly cancelled the arrangement and Prof. Monti went back home to Turin.

The reason was twofold:

First, the Italian Swiss Company entered the California Wine Association, better known perhaps as the Wine Trust. This is the organization that fixes the price of wine grapes at $10 per ton when table and raisin grapes bring three times that amount.

Second, the dry state-wide amendment campaign had developed and the Wine Trust had tied up with the eastern Whisky Trust in a death struggle to defeat the movement. The principal argument that was to be used was that the state-wide policy would not only annihilate the grape industry, but that it would make punk of the very land on which the grapes were raised.

It surely would not do for the Wine Trust to carry out their proposal to Monti at this ticklish time and thus make ruin of their principal argument. For this reason, the arrangement with the Italian chemist was cancelled or rather postponed until another year, when the dry campaign will be out of the way.

No matter which way the dry campaign goes, the non-alcoholic wine industry for California is assured. The project was initiated by the Italian Swiss Wine Company before the campaign for the dry state-wide policy was inaugurated and only postponed temporarily in order to not spoil their chief argument.

If the dry state-wide movement is lost, the wine people will simply renew their original proposal, which they intended to carry out anyhow.

If the dry amendment is carried, the wine people will rush their plant to early completion in order to take care of the wine crop for 1916.

The wine crop of 1915 will be marketed in the usual way even if the measure is carried for the reason that under the new initiated amendment the new dry policy will not go into effect until January 1, 1916.

The California wine men are not going to let the scheme get into the hands of the regular grape juice manufacturers if they can help it. The regular grape juice manufacturers have had difficulty in keeping up with the rapidly increasing demands for their product and many of these manufacturers have gotten rich out of the traffic.

In the meantime the holding up of the Italian Swiss scheme will enable the wine men to work their campaign sob story to the limit between now and the third of November next.

3,000,000 MEN IN WARFARE

Reports given out early this morning give evidence that the battle east of Paris may continue for several days. The fourth day of the gigantic battle to the east of Paris, which is expected to last two weeks and to decide the preliminary stage of the great war, finds the left wing of the allied armies vigorously pushing back the Germans' right wing, which had made such rapid advance southward from the Belgian frontier.

The allies are said to have forced their adversaries back nearly forty miles northeastward since the beginning of the contest. The hard struggle between the enormous mass of troops extends from near Paris to as far as Nancy, close to the Lorraine border.

An action is proceeding with the utmost violence in the neighborhood of Mailly and Vitry-le-Francois, but it is very hot also in the center, where both sides are holding their positions with the greatest tenacity.

LONDON, Sept. 10. — While the latest official statements give few details of the great battle which is being waged in France and in which 3,000,000 men are engaged, it seems apparent that the German forces are still falling back, from the announcement that the allies have gained about thirty-seven miles of territory in their advance, an increase of twelve in the operations during the past twenty-four hours.

Both British and French troops have crossed the river Marne, the British capturing men and guns. The action of greatest severity is being fought between Mailly and Vitry-le-Francois.

In the engagement between the British and Germans in Nyassaland, British Central Africa, the Germans, according to the British official press bureau, were driven back to the river Songwe, which is part of the frontier between the British and German protectorates.

Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia, son of the late Prince Frederick Albert, regent of Brunswick and a second cousin of the German emperor, has been wounded in battle.

Both the German and allies' armies in France are receiving reinforcements and the battle in France is likely to last some days yet.

The reports regarding the progress of the Russian and Austrian arms are meager, but a Petrograd dispatch says it is believed that the German crown prince has been appointed chief commander of these forces, which are to oppose the Russian advance.

The British prime minister has called for more men to serve the country, and when the government's plans are completed, the British army will number 1,854,000 men.

Additional British casualties have been made public, covering the period up to September 7, and bringing the total for the campaign close to 19,000 killed, wounded and missing.

The many friends of Mrs. A. E. Buchanan will be pleased to learn she is greatly improved in health and has been taken to her home, 109 South Maryland avenue, from Thornycroft hospital, where she was a patient.

Mr. Guy Blaine of Los Angeles was a guest last evening in the home of friends.

RECEPTION PLANNED

At a recent meeting of the Queen Esthers of the West Glendale church, which was held in the home of the Misses Midcalf, 118 South Brand boulevard, plans were made for a reception to be given by this circle in honor of the Queen Esthers of Casa Verdugo and the First M. E. church of Glendale, the date of which will be announced later.

Following this and other minor business details, a social hour and refreshments were enjoyed by the congenial members.

Miss Elizabeth Cadd, corresponding secretary for the West Glendale branch, attended the Queen Esther convention held in Los Angeles on Friday and gave the necessary reports.

PRISCILLA CLUB TO REORGANIZE

Members of the Priscilla Club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Miss Coral Griffith, 1463 Salem street, for the especial purpose of reorganizing for the winter and taking in a few new members. Matters brought up for discussion will be continued next Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. H. Vandeburgh, 1470 Salem street.

Before departing Miss Griffith's guests were refreshed with delicious iced punch and assorted cakes, which were daintily served by the gracious hostess.

Miss Harriet Nichols has returned to her home, the Hawthorne apartments, from Merced, Cal., where she has been enjoying a three weeks' rest. Miss Nichols spent the greater part of the summer traveling in the East with her sister, Miss Margaret Nichols, who is now studying music, including the pipe organ, in the North and taking a post-graduate college course at Berkeley.

EDUCATION OF CALIFORNIA'S YOUNG FOLKS

The state of California expends many millions of dollars annually upon its public school system. It builds and maintains fine school structures. It provides school playgrounds. It furnishes free text books to pupils. It gives excellent teaching talent for the training of youth. In a word, the commonwealth places the means of education, with prodigal profusion, at the feet of each and every child in the state and it insists that each and every child shall partake. Sometimes caustic criticism is passed upon methods of instruction in the schools. Sometimes it is hinted by patrons that the schools are falling short of what they should be. Some of these criticisms doubtless are just, to some extent. The school system of this state, as well as of other states, is not perfect. But in criticising the strictures passed upon the school and school work should not be too sweeping.

Granting that there are defects in the school system, let it be granted in turn, by the critics, that all is not defective in the schools—that there is much that is good and worthy of praise in the schools, as conducted. This is the fair way to make criticism—admit the good, as well as point out the bad, in whatever is criticised.

In the great work of educating the children, each and every parent and patron of the schools may have and should have a part. Through parent-teacher associations school patrons are brought more intimately into association with "the powers that be," in school work, than ever before. This enables parents to bring their criticisms directly to the throne so to speak. In this way oftentimes defects in the schools are remedied quickly without red tape and without hurtful, critical agitation against school methods.—Pasadena Star.
